"We are a part of the Earth, in some way we are a microcosm of the Earth... and as such we may carry the whole Earth inside us." Ana Pogacnik

Gaela Morrison is a Geomancer and Consultant, offering on-site and remote energy clearings and healings for homes, land, and businesses. Her work is an original and continually evolving approach to earth energy work (geomancy) and the creation of sacred space.

An underlying premise of the work is that spaces have a consciousness just as we humans do. An intimate relationship exists between people and their properties – one is not separate from the other. One's inner landscape is reflected in the outer landscape, including one's home, business or community. Our work involves re-weaving the relationship of the human to the spirit of the land.

I draw from a background in Geomancy, Feng Shui, landscape gardening, environmental art, and shamanic practices. By listening deeply to the story of the land or building and the people involved, often significant insights and karmas are revealed. Areas of energy blocks, disharmony, and unresolved issues are exposed. While many of the blockages are harmonized during the work session, I've discovered that some involvement is often required by the client to create real shifts. I will provide detailed information about what was found, what was cleared, and what pieces of work remain for the client.

This work is beneficial for:

- moving and transforming stagnant or stuck energy (in both the space and in one's life),
- re-energizing, starting, or expanding a business venture,
- moving through significant life changes such as illness, divorce, death,
- revitalizing and healing environments from past trauma,
- clearing other people's energy (including spirit disturbances) from a space,
- moving into a new home,
- helping to sell real estate,
- improving health; and increasing creativity,
- harmonizing relationships, including relationship to the Earth
- creating sacred spaces for meditation, spiritual practices, and healing.

The work is in depth and detailed. Session costs are based on size and complexity of properties and are on a case by case basis and depending on client considerations. I am glad to work and collaborate on residential, commercial, institutional, and retreat properties.
